Blue Bandage Polocrosse FAQ's

Things you might want to ask

Do you need to join as a financial member to be a Blue Bandage Player?

- ❖ When you sign up to become a Blue Bandage player, you will need to go through a polocrosse club. This is correct pathway to polocrosse; however, we do not want to pressure new player into a “club” scene on their first day.

Can you be a Blue Bandage player in any grade playing with white bandage players?

- ❖ No, Blue Bandage Polocrosse is designed for players to play in a non-contact environment. This will null and void your insurance. However, you can pay to upgrade your membership anytime you want and play white bandage polocrosse.

Is Blue Bandage Polocrosse a grade of its own?

- ❖ No, Blue Bandage Polocrosse is non-competitive and is not graded.

How long can you be a Blue Bandage player?

- ❖ As long as the player abides by the Blue Bandage Polocrosse rules; non-competitive, low to no contact, no swinging, slow pace, safe and easy access to goals.

Can a player that has played polocrosse in previous years play in a Blue Bandage competition?

- ❖ Yes, as long as the player abides by the Blue Bandage Polocrosse rules; non-competitive, low to no contact, no swinging, slow pace, safe and easy access to goals.

What do you do if you only have one Blue Bandage Polocrosse player wanting to participate?

- ❖ The organising club can find some white bandages members who are willing to play a chukka or two with the Blue Bandage player. This happened at a Victorian carnival, the club rallied a number of white bandage players who were willing to have a game of Blue Bandage (many of them with green horses). This Blue Bandage person was able to get one on one coaching and has a great day.

See you on the field.
